I think that for us girls its best to get together when he is back. So we'll be seeing you guys for the next few months. Wednesday, January 01, 2007 he left this morning :(I really wanted to see him off. I have been in constant contact with my dad on the phone, we've sent messages to each other and every time it feels like the sun comes out. when I was a little girl he promised me that he would get me anything that I wanted :D I really want that painting of the man in the turban that I told him about. He's asked about that a thousand times but he hasn't brought it up again. So I've given him a few more days before I ask him about it.... My husband went to South Africa to look after his sister and her family. He hasn't been away from us in such a long time. I was very sad when he left and couldn't get a flight to see him off. He's always been very good at putting my feelings into

I am learning to use the Spring MVC framework. I read somewhere that Spring MVC is essentially a (3 tier) layered architecture (with HttpServlet, controller and Model tiers). I have 2 questions : How does Spring MVC work? Do you simply use a Spring MVC project with a web.xml and servlet-config.xml and a controller class or do you use Spring XML for this? If I use HttpServlet, controller, Model classes what will that translate to (static, singleton, component, custom?) A: Spring controllers will be annotated with: @Controller @RequestMapping("/my/custom/path") so that you have the URL /my/custom/path mapped to your controller method Here's 3da54e8ca3
